

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Martin Marquez Jr. currently resides in beautiful New Mexico. He is a faithful member of Bella Vista Baptist Church and enjoys serving the Lord God in different ministries. He enjoys being a friend and helping anyone he can, even if just to listen to people and give any advice he can. His hobbies are woodworking, writing, painting, reading, and other crafts. His favorite thing to do is spend time with friends and family. He is an Army veteran who served honorably for nine years and has three combat deployments overseas.

He has gone through some pretty tough times in his life but allows God to rule his heart and change him as he prays for peace and wisdom to help others. He did not grow up in church, so his first thirty-four years of life were rough and has given him experiences to where he can relate to others in distress. This has allowed him the sympathy and understanding to give advice to those in similar situations. With prayer, time in the Bible and experience, he desires to help anyone in need.
